ANOTHER RIPPER CRIME

Little Girl, Four Years Old, Fatally Stabbed by Unknown Man.

Berlin, Jan. 6.—Another mysterious "ripper" crime was committed last night in a suburb of Charlestown, when a little girl 4 years old was ejected into the hallway of a house and fatally stabbed in the abdomen. She was injured in exactly the same manner as that employed by the man who last July startled the city by a series of stabbing of young children. No trace of the criminal has been found.

Hartje Loses Case Again.

Philadelphia, Jan. 6.—The Pennsylvania supreme court today refused to permit an appeal to be taken to that tribunal from the superior court in the famous Hartje divorce case. Hartje was refused a divorce from his wife and the decision is now affirmed by the supreme court. Hartje may take his suit to the United States supreme court.

Wed by Rev. Miller.

George L. Smith, a Missouri Pacific machinist, and Mrs. Grace Hodges, daughter of A. P. Williams, and M. K. & T. shopman, and wife, residing at 1904 South Missouri avenue, were married quietly by Rev. R. C. Miller at the parsonage of the East Sedalia Baptist church at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Died in St. Louis.

George H. Johnson, a prominent architect and contractor of St. Louis, who built the Sedalia theater in this city, died at his home Saturday. He made many friends in Sedalia while here, all of whom will learn of his death with sincere regret.

NEW MEN AT THE HELM

THE QUEEN CITY TELEPHONE CO. PLANT TO CHANGE OWNERSHIP.

SEDALIA MONEY IS IN THE DEAL

An Improved Service Is to Be Put in and Connection Made With the Kinloch and Several of Nearby Towns.

The Queen City Telephone Co. plant is about to change ownership, but the street rumor that it is to be absorbed by the Missouri and Kansas Telephone Co. is wholly without foundation.

The new owners will be Sedalians, and it is the intention to give the people of the Prairie Queen and surrounding country a service that is not surpassed in any city.

All of the details have not been consummated as yet, but the Democrat-Sentinel is authorized to state that connection will be made with the Kinloch long distance system and with Windsor, Hughesville and other nearby towns.

The city is now being canvassed for new subscribers, and it is hoped to obtain a list of not fewer than 3,000.

Mr. Frank S. Leach, the local manager, will remain with the new owners, the head being one of Sedalia's shrewdest and most successful men.

MISS ETHEL WARREN DEAD

Expired After Taking Horseback Ride Sunday Afternoon.

Miss Ethel Warren, daughter of James T. Warren, died at her home near Manila at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon from lung trouble, aged about 35 years.

Miss Warren had been in poor health for a number of years. Sunday afternoon she was feeling better and concluded to ride over to a neighbor's horseback. She had gotten but half way, when she began feeling worse and returned home.

She was assisted into her room, but continued to grow worse and only lived about an hour.

Deceased was a young lady greatly loved by her neighbors and companions, and her sudden death will be a shock to the community.

Funeral will be held at Antioch church at 2 o'clock Tuesday, and the interment will be in the cemetery there.

BURIES $720, FUNDS $40

A Panic-Stricken Stockholder Drew Funds From Bank.

Springfield, Mo., Jan. 6.—Becoming alarmed for fear his money was not safe in the Bank of Niangua, in which he was a stockholder, George Ellmore drew out $720 in gold and buried it two months ago, only to find when he went to secure the coin that some one had located it and taken all but $40.

Burial of George Ethridge.

The body of George Ethridge, a former Sedalia barber, arrived from Kansas City at 4:25 o'clock Sunday afternoon, accompanied by E. H. Ethridge, a brother, and was taken by McLaughlin Bros. direct to the city cemetery, where the interment took place. Mr. E. H. Ethridge returned to Kansas City this morning.

MANY MEN BACK TO WORK

FORTY THOUSAND PITTSBURG WORKMEN RESUMED LABOR TODAY.

OTHER MILLS ARE SOON TO FOLLOW

Similar State of Affairs at Cleveland, Ohio, and General Prosperity Is Once More in the Saddle.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 6.—After a brief absence from duty, General Prosperity resumed command of the industrial situation in the Pittsburg district today, when most of the mills in Glassport, McKeesport, Duquesne and up the Monongahela valley as far as Monessen and down to Pittsburg, resumed operations. More than 40,000 men who have been idle for several weeks resumed work today. Practically every mill in the Pittsburg district will be in full operation within a week.

Reports from Newcastle state that ten of the thirty hot mills of the Shenango tin mills resumed today, and that the entire plant will be running full force before the end of the month. The mill is the largest in plant in the world and has been idle since July 3. Three thousand men are affected.

Among the other mills which resumed operations today, or will begin operations during the month, maintaining the 1907 standard of wages, are the following: National Tube works, McKeesport, 10,000 men; Duquesne Steel works, 6,000 men; Homestead mills, 7,000 men; Brad-dock mills, 8,000 men; Monessen and Charleroi mills, 4,000 men; Clariton mills, 2,000 men; Donora mills, 1,000 men; Woods mills, 1,000 men, and numerous smaller plants employing from 100 to 800 men.

A Cleveland, O., dispatch says: Many factories which were closed down as a result of the recent financial flurry resumed operations today, and it is expected that all of the 10,000 workmen who were laid off will be taken back during the month.

The American Shipbuilding Co. expects to take on 5,000 men within the next few days, which is nearly its full capacity. Hundreds who were laid off by the steel mills were taken back today. All indications point to a general resumption of business this month.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Sedalia Democrat Co. Selects Present Officials and Creates New Position

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Sedalia Democrat Co., held in the counting rooms of the Democrat-Sentinel this morning, the following persons were chosen directors to serve for the ensuing year: S. C. Price, George H. Trader, Geo. H. Scruton, W. H. Powell and A. D. Stanley.

After the adjournment of the stockholders' meeting, there was a meeting of the directors, who elected the following officers: A. D. Stanley, president; W. H. Powell, vice president; Geo. H. Trader, secretary; G. H. Scruton, editor, and on motion of Mr. Powell, the office of associate editor was created and E. B. Burrows chosen to fill the office. No further business appearing before the board the meeting adjourned.

The action of the directors in making Mr. Burrows associate editor will be very pleasing to his friends everywhere. He is one of the best newspaper men in Central Missouri, has been a writer and worker on the Democrat for a long time, and the promotion is well deserved.

MUNCIE'S MOB IS BROKEN

Street Cars Again Run Without Police Guard.

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 6.—The backbone of Muncie's mob element is broken. Cars were run Sunday from early morning until dusk over all lines, and, with the exception of a little stone throwing on the outskirts, the cars were unmolested, notwithstanding they were manned by imported strike breakers and unguarded so far as deputy sheriffs or troops were concerned.

Major General W. J. McKee, in command of the troops, takes a cheerful view of the situation.

Oh, Yes, a Few Passes, Thank You.

Lots of people in Sedalia are waking up to the fact that walking is healthful, invigorating exercise. The street car company there issued no annual passes this year.—Kansas City Star.

Wrong, Mr. Star Man. The Sedalia Light and Traction Co. has not abolished passes entirely, but no longer issues them to city or county officials, nor to the press that called the recent grand jury's attention to the violation of the law in issuing and accepting the same.

The number of passes has been materially curtailed, likely, but "1908 favors" will still be found in the hands of some, despite the fact that "no one ever gets something for nothing nowadays."

DEATH OF THOMAS G. MAY

HE WAS A WELL KNOWN CITIZEN OF HUGHESVILLE FOR MANY YEARS.

FIRST TAKEN DOWN WITH LA GRIPPE

It Developed Into Pneumonia, but Not Until Sunday Was His Condition Serious—The End Came Monday Forenoon.

Thomas G. May, a well known and highly respected citizen of Hughesville, died at his home there at 9:30 o'clock this morning, of acute pneumonia, aged about 58 years.

Mr. May was taken with a case of la grippe last week, which yesterday developed into pneumonia, but he was not considered in a dangerous condition until this morning, when he grew suddenly worse and the final summons came.

Deceased during infancy sustained a loss of his eye sight, and he has been totally blind during life. Some years since he began acting as agent for various newspapers and periodicals, and had made a success of the business.

He was agent for not only the local, but the metropolitan papers as well, and while deprived of his eye sight could recognize all patrons by their voices and kept in close touch with the dates of the expiration of their time to the numerous papers he represented.

"Tommy," as he was called, was the friend of all with whom he came in contact. He was a consistent and working member of the Hughesville Christian church. He never married, but lived with his sister, Mrs. Claus Heins, and he also left a brother, John D. May, of near Hughesville.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, but will probably be held from the home some time Wednesday.

THE 1907 FIRE ALARMS

There Were a Total of 119 During the Twelve Months.

"Hank" Edwards Is Better.

H. H. Edwards, the grocer, who has been ill with la grippe since Christmas, is up and around, but is not well by any means.

SHE LOVED THE BOARDER

BETTER THAN SHE DID HER HUSBAND, AND IT RESULTED IN HER DEATH.

FIVE SHOTS FIRED INTO HER BODY

Had Asked Her Liege Lord for Money to Defray Her Expenses to the Man She Loved and the Murder Followed.

New York, Jan. 6.—Walter Hurt, under arrest in Yonkers on a charge of killing his wife, admits his crime and justifies himself in this fashion:

"What could any man do under the circumstances? She told me she was going to leave me for another man and asked me for money to pay her railroad fare. Then I shot her and I intended to kill her."

Hurt and his wife, who were married nine years ago, ran a boarding house at No. 42 Woodworth avenue. A man named George Brown entered their establishment as a boarder a few months ago. He was what might be termed, in comparison with the other boarders, a dashing teamster.

Brown won the affections of the landlady. Hurt found it out after everybody else in the house knew all about it, and Brown, the dashing teamster, packed his telescope valise and did not stop until he had secured a job in South Carolina.

He kept up a correspondence with Mrs. Hurt and last Christmas sent her a gilded mantel clock. The woman told her husband that she was tired of the boarding house and of him, and had made up her mind to go south and join Brown.

"All I want from you," she said, "is railroad fare. If you like me as you say you do, you ought to give it to me."

The couple argued all evening about the woman's determination. After she had retired Hurt loaded a revolver and went to her room. She sat up in bed as he entered.

"Do you still feel that way?" asked Hurt.

"My mind is made up," she replied. "If you don't give me the money to go away with I will get it somewhere else."

Thereupon Hurt fired three shots at her, and they all struck her in the head. She died in a few minutes.

AMERICAN HEIRESS WEDS

Knot Was Tied on the Anniversary of Her Divorce.

Berlin, Jan. 6.—Mrs. Clara Hayl, nee Schandeln, the wealthy daughter of a Milwaukee brewer, today celebrated the first anniversary of her divorce from her first husband, by marrying Lieutenant Arthur Schlubrecht, one of the most famous of the younger portrait painters of Germany.

After a brief honeymoon the couple will take up their residence in a magnificent villa in Grunwald, a fashionable suburb of Berlin. The new Mrs. Schlubrecht has two sons by her first husband, who are now attending school in Germany, having been awarded to the custody of their mother by the American court.

The bride's wealth is estimated at $6,000,000. She secured possession of the $8,000,000 fortune left by her mother after a bitter contest in the Milwaukee courts, but later settled large sums upon her former husband and the relatives who contested the will.

A NOTED MURDER CASE

Chester Gillette, Convicted of Killing Grace Brown.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 6.—One of the most important cases before the court of appeals, which began its term today, is that of Chester Gillette, the young man who was convicted of the brutal murder of Miss Grace Brown at Big Mouse lake, in the Adirondacks, early last year. Gillette is now under sentence of death. His case will likely be heard by the court after the disposal of the calendar of "appeals from orders," which usually occupies the first three or four days of the term.

Installation and Smoker.

Wichita tribe No. 108, L. O. R. M., will hold its installation of officers-elect at their meeting hall tonight. Afterwards a smoker will be held.

The Ministers' Alliance.

Rev. A. A. Boyd, pastor of Central Presbyterian church, read a splendid paper, "Higher Criticism," at today's meeting of the Ministers' Alliance, after which the topic was discussed.

An effort is being made to bring to Sedalia Clinton N. Howard, a noted temperance advocate of New York, who has been laboring in Alabama, for a season of work here some time during the month of March.

County Court in Session.

The judges of the Pettis county court are in session today, but up to the time the Democrat-Sentinel went to press the only business attended to was correcting erroneous tax assessments.

MRS. M. I. DONAHUE DEAD

THE WIFE OF A WELL KNOWN CARPENTER AT THE M. K. & T. SHOPS.

FINAL SUMMONS ON SUNDAY NIGHT

Funeral Services Will Be Held at Sacred Heart Church at 9 O'clock Wednesday Morning, Rev. Fr. Neiberg Officiating.

Mrs. Mary Ion Donahue, wife of Cornelius M. Donahue, the well known M. K. & T. carpenter, died Sunday night at 9:30 o'clock at her home, 1617 South Grand avenue, after an illness of four days of peritonitis, aged 31 years.

Mrs. Donahue was one of Sedalia's best known ladies. She was a devout member of Sacred Heart Catholic church, and carried membership in Queen City council No. 564, Knights and Ladies of Security.

Besides her husband, she leaves two children, Leo, aged 7 years, and Anna Louise, aged four months; a sister, Mrs. Wm. Brockman; a father, mother and three brothers, residing at Tulsa, Okla.

Mrs. Brockman and mother, Mrs. Pearce, arrived Sunday morning and were at Mrs. Donahue's bedside when the final summons came.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 9 a. m. at Sacred Heart church. The Altar society will attend in a body, Mrs. Donahue having been a loved member.

The interment will be in the Catholic cemetery, but the pallbearers have not yet been selected.

NO PUBLIC INSTALLATION

That to Have Been Held by Red Men Is Declared Off.

A public installation of officers of all the tribes of the Improved Order of Red Men in this district was to have been held at the hall in the Royal Tribe of Joseph building in this city tomorrow night, but owing to the illness of Great sachem H. H. Edwards, of this city, the work has been declared off, and in accordance the out of town tribes have been notified.

All the officers-elect of all district tribes were to have been here, and the great council officers of the state were to have been in charge of the installation ceremonies.

JONES' BODY TO BE EXHUMED

Arrests May Follow Autopsy in Terre Haute, Ind., Today.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 6.—Judge Kimbrough has authorized State's Attorney Arbuckle, of Edgar county, Ill., to exhume the body of William A. Jones, a rich land owner of that county, who died last August and about whose death there have been cumulative stories ever since.

The day of his death he went with his young wife to Paris, where he ate a hearty dinner and soon afterward became violently ill. Three Paris physicians and a Chicago surgeon will perform the autopsy today.

State's Attorney Arbuckle has been quoted as saying that suspicion is strong enough for the arrest of two persons, should the autopsy develop poison in the stomach.

Visiting at Green Ridge.

Miss Nettie Kennedy, deputy circuit clerk, is laying off for a few days. She is visiting friends at Green Ridge, and her sister, Miss Ida Kennedy, is filling the former's place.

SECOND TRIAL STARTED

HARRY K. THAW'S SECOND BATTLE FOR LIFE BEGAN TODAY.

HIS GIRL WIFE WAS AGAIN PRESENT

Dressed in the Same School Girl Blue Dress That Attracted So Much Attention Before—Defendant Not Changed in Looks.

New York, Jan. 6.—Harry K. Thaw today for the second time faced his trial on the charge of wilful murder. After months of waiting in the Tombs, the tedious work of selecting a jury to try the young Pittsburger for killing Stanford White, began in the criminal branch of the supreme court in the same room in which Thaw sat daily for nearly three months during his previous trial. Compared with the former trial, the interest in New York is at a low ebb.

Thaw was called to the bar at 11:27 o'clock this morning. His appearance showed little or no change from last year. As soon as he appeared his chief counsel, Attorney Littleton, announced that his former plea of not guilty would be amended to read "that the defendant was insane at the time the deed was committed."

Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, attired in the blue school girl dress, so familiar during the first trial, was in the room, accompanied by Mrs. Carnegie and Josiah Thaw, sister and brother of the defendant.

It is probable that many tedious days will be spent in securing a jury, and each jurymen will be placed under a lock and key from the moment they are chosen until they finish.

District Attorney Jerome and assistant District Attorney Garvin represent the people, while Martin Littleton will appear as Thaw's counsel, together with other who will act as advisors.

One Juror Is Selected. Charles E. Gremmels, a juror, was selected as juror No. 1 before the luncheon hour arrived. Mrs. Evelyn Thaw was pursued a crowd of curious persons and she was escorted in and out of the room by a detail of police.

LOST COIN IS RETURNED

It Was One-Half of a Penny, That Was Prized as a Relic.

A few weeks ago an item appeared in this paper to the effect that H. T. McArtor had lost a half cent coin which he prized as a valuable relic, says the Lamonte Record. Shortly after the item appeared, Rev. H. S. Thornhill, pastor of the Baptist church at Eldon, who was until recently pastor of the Baptist church here, sent the coin to Mr. McArtor, together with a letter stating that he saw the item in the Record, and explaining how the coin happened to be in his possession.

Just before Rev. Thornhill left Lamonte some parties gave Mr. McArtor some money with the request that it be handed to Rev. Thornhill. When Mr. McArtor met Rev. Thornhill he took this money from his pocket and handed it, together with the one-half cent piece, which happened to be in the same pocket, to the minister, who naturally supposed the half-cent piece was intended for him as well as the other money.

Mr. McArtor had almost abandoned hope of finding it again, and he was agreeably surprised when he received it by mail.

Gave a Dining Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Reed, of 334 West Cooper street, entertained the following relatives at dinner at their home Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. David Earp, of Spring Fork; Mr. and Mrs. John O'Brien, of Mora; Mr. and Mrs. Lute Reed, of this city.

Mr. Beyeler is to Appear.

E. J. Beyeler, the dramatic reader, has been engaged to appear at night on the 18th, 19th and 20th inst. at the Nickelodeon, adjoining J. West Goodwin's printing office on Ohio street.

Bank Robbers Frightened Away.

Maitland, Mo., Jan. 6.—An unsuccessful attempt was made early this morning to rob the Farmers' bank of this place. A burglar alarm sounded and the two men concerned ran from the bank and escaped.

THE GAS COMPANY HAS THEM GUESSING.

One of the patrons of the gas company, say their bills for December
very materially less than for November, in some instances as much as 50 per cent.
Naturally, all else being equal, one wonders that the gas bills for December would be greater than for November, and while those fortunate ones are congratulating themselves, they can not help asking how it happened.

TARIFF AND PROSPERITY.

As long as the tariff protects the trusts and the United States treasury protects the speculators, there will be fictitious prosperity, followed by panics and business depression.

The republican policies are those of the gambler. They plunder the people by high taxation and spend the people's money for subsidies to their masters, the trusts and corporations. What is needed is honest laws and a faithful administration of the same. Less political fireworks and a chance for honest men to get their dues. With equal rights to all and special privileges to none, there would be no panics, for trusts and corporations would be reduced to the needs of the government, instead of piling up millions in the United States treasury for politicians to play with.

The whole country has been on a prolonged republican debauch and the people are now suffering from it. Extravagance has run riot in federal affairs, and the administration and republican leaders are at the tail end.
Like all spendthrifts, they are now repenting, with empty pockets and headaches, and are trying to find out where they are at. They have forced us all to participate in the common disaster, and until a new crew is elected in their places not much improvement can be expected in national affairs.

The law-breaking trust magnates
are still at large; the railroad corporations are continuing to charge all the tariff will bear, as far as interstate commerce is concerned, while President Roosevelt offers no remedy, but joins with Speaker Cannon
in leaving bad enough alone.

Business is depressed and wages
are falling, but the republican congress stands pat, having raised their own salaries 50 per cent, they can stand it. The republican party is far from being as omnipotent as it boasted it was. The rain and sunshine are not mortgaged to the trusts, and the corporations have no monopoly on the wealth of nature. The American farmer will pull us all out of the hole through the sweat of his brow, in spite of the handicap of republican mismanagement and folly.

Let all who feel the financial distress that republican policies have produced, determine during the new year to cease believing republican boasts.

GRIIP AND ITS "CURE."

This is the season of the year
when diseases which have their origin in the very common ailment of a "cold" are prevalent. Low temperatures, combined with frequent changes render it difficult for many persons to protect themselves from a cold.
These climatic conditions applied to the cold, make it comparatively easy for the person afflicted to contract more serious ills. Pneumonia, bronchitis and other throat and pulmonary troubles follow quickly and insidiously in the wake of a bad cold, providing the constitution is not strong enough to throw off their impregnating germs.

Grip, that mysterious disease,
which under one name or another,
has tested the physician's skill from time immemorial, is always with us, to a certain extent, it attacks at random the apparently strong along with the weak, and often without provocation or betrayal of its origin. It makes its appearance in peculiar and puzzling degrees of intensity. One year we are practically immune from the trouble and the next it descends
upon us with a heavy hand.

This winter is one of the real "grippy" kind. The disease is quite general throughout the central and northern states, and in this locality it has become quite epidemic.

What is the cure for grip? This is the question that every sufferer would like to have answered. Especially would a treatment which would stop the disease in its incipency be appreciated. But, unfortunately, medical science has done little or nothing to help us out. The doctor's prescription and the drug store nostrum is likewise powerless to stop the pes-tiferous bacilli from having their way when once they gain a footing.
They must run their course and the victim must take his medicine in a dual sense of the word.

Usually grip, while exceedingly annoying, is not a serious disease. If the patient takes care of himself and does nothing to impair his vitality, he will sooner or later succeed in throwing it off. But the danger lies in exposure, or in the use of stimulants or drugs which leave the "victim" in a weakened condition. The heart action is impaired and the powers of resistance are undermined, so that the germs of pneumonia frequently find fertile soil for their havoc. Plenty of rest, moderate exercise, fresh air and wholesome food are the best means of promoting recuperation, and they will, if exposure is avoided, do more to throw off grip and kindred ailments than all the whisky and quinine in existence.

Smoking by women in New York restaurants is declared to be a "great success." Were the Gothamites so naive as to suspect their fair sex didn't know how?

And what a splendid thing it will be to exchange our worn out stom-aches for fresh ones from calves and young goats. Of course, John D. will have the first call.

There is no evidence, an expert says, of pre-historic man in America.
Has he examined carefully into the ancestry of Uncle Joe Cannon?

Also, with this transferring of vital organs from one animal to another,
would it not be well to put lamb's
hearts inside of lions?

And, by the way, how many sheets of paper have you wasted because of that persistent "07" habit?

Also, have you slipped more on the pavement on those new resolutions?

WHEN MELONS ARE RIPE.

Some Tests Which You Can Try Next Year.

Muskmelons or cantaloupes are at their best only when ripened in the natural way on good, healthy vines.
I do not think a melon ripened any other way can be either wholesome or healthful, yet I presume a great many are eaten that are not ripened that way, says a writer in Farm and Home. At least we see hundreds of crates in the markets obviously picked green with stems hanging to them like pig tails. A muskmelon picked with its stem attached has not ripened properly and never will.

A genuine ripe muskmelon is one that has left the vine perfectly free from the stem, and it should leave at the least pluck or pull. A muskmelon picked in any other way is not ripe.

We cannot tell a ripe watermelon until it is plucked or cut open. It is simply a matter of judgment. Even experienced growers are deceived sometimes, especially when they first begin to ripen. There are two or three signs to judge by when we expect them to be ripe. Some think that when the first curl or tendril next
the melon is dead is a good sign.
Varieties differ in this respect. Others content that when they crack with little pressure they are ripe. This is not a good process to use if the melons are to be shipped or kept a few days.

The best sign is by the sound. If the melon, when tapped with thumb or hand, gives a dull thud-like sound
it is ripe. As the dorkies say: "If dey goes co-plunk dey's ripe, but if dey does co-plunk dey aint." The other signs may or may not then be in evidence, but they usually are. The stem of the watermelon retains its hold as firmly when ripe as at any other time.

The verdict of good cooks is the best praise for "Pride of Perry."

The Philanthropy of Averill

By BENJAMIN FRANKLIN NAPHEYS
(Copyright, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

The train started with a jerk, and Rudolph Averill heard an infantile cry of fear, and felt a pair of tiny arms bury themselves in his hair. He raised his hand to his head, and clasped another, very soft and light, that was busy disengaging the entangled fingers.

"Totty, Totty," a sweet voice chided,
"you must not do so. Let go and step down from that suit case, you naughty child."

The child's fingers untwined themselves and Averill faced about with a rather forced smile. A young woman, surrounded by children and luggage, bent over a small youngster, evidently the offender, and tried to make a place for it on the seat by her side.

"Please excuse her," the young woman said, as she hoisted Totty into her lap. "She was about to fall, and caught at the first thing within reach.
I should not have allowed her to stand on the luggage."

Averill's gaze took in the three children, of which Totty, surely not more than six, was the eldest, and besides these, a babe wrapped and veiled, asleep in the corner of the seat. The young woman herself, sweet of face,
and extraordinarily girlish of figure,
was crowded into the corner of the seat.

Averill arose and turned over the back of his seat and faced her. "You must let me make you comfortable, madam," he said. "Are you going far?"

"No; only to Kingston."
"Ah; I go a few miles farther. Now, put some of the children over beside me; you look tired out."

The young woman, in great confusion, seemed about to insist upon keeping her flock beside herself, but Averill settled the question by lifting the unresisting Totty, and one other, to the opposite seat, where they remained with clasped hands, mutely staring at him.

"There," said Averill; "now, put
the sleeping cherub over here, too, and you will have room to take a deep breath."

"Oh, no," she cried hastily, "you might awaken him."
"All right," Averill ejaculated,
then, apologetically, "I don't know very much about babies, anyway."

"So I surmised; but it doesn't matter now, I am very comfortable, thank you," and she began to look out of the window.

For a moment Averill was tempted to find another seat. He decided that she must be a young country woman, returning from a visit to the metropolis, and not accustomed to even ordinary courtesies from strangers. Her face was so girlish, and her evident anxiety so distressed him, that his chivalry was stirred. He longed to tell her that there was no danger on the train; that none of her bundles had been forgotten in the hurry of departure, and that her husband assuredly would be waiting for her at the station.

As he continued to study her face
he seemed to see a look of amusement and mischief, which grew more pronounced as two elderly women across the aisle began to make audible comments of the group. Averill heard something about "a large family for so young a couple," and the young woman stifled a cough, while he felt his face reddening. One of the children beside him, growing more accustomed to his presence, tentatively patted his knee and sociably gurgled.

"Don't, Terrance," admonished the young woman.

Averill was genuinely sorry for her;
it was a shame that she was so distressed—that she was so poor a judge of human nature as to be suspicious of his most disinterested desire to make her journey more pleasant. She took him for something less than a gentleman, and his efforts in her behalf as attempts at flirtation.
He determined to place himself in a better light.

"I'm sorry, madam," he began,
"that my endeavors to make you more comfortable have—"

"Oh, you don't understand," she expostulated, "you don't understand about the children."

"Why, my dear madam," said Averill, in a fatherly voice, "don't you worry about them. I'll admit that I don't thoroughly understand their habits; but for the short distance that I shall ride with these little ones, I assure you I will say or do nothing that will cause them to grow any worse men or women, as the case may be. Don't worry; take what rest you can before you get back to the everyday life."

He paused to pat Totty's head, and the child piped up:
"My papa pleaded not guilty, and they had to let him go."

"Ah," said Averill, at a loss how to change the subject, "and I suppose mamma was glad?"

"No she wasn't," replied Totty, with vehemence.

He stole a glance at the young woman, who seemed to be hiding her face in her hands.

"Poor Totty," said Averill. "Has mother so many troubles to fight against?"

"Only papa and my big brother.
Say, ain't men the useless things,
though?"

"Hush, Totty," said the young woman.

"The child is right, madam," said Averill, gravely. "Men are generally very useless creatures. But I wish you could have faith enough in me to let me help you. I assure you, my motives—"

"I understand your motives, and I appreciate them. Indeed," she went on, more humbly, "you have made the ride much more comfortable for me.
This is my first experience, and—and I should be so miserable if the baby should awaken and begin to cry."

"That frequently happens on trains,"
said Averill, lightly.

"Here is my station," she said, as she began to gather up her sundries.
"You have been very kind; I thank you."

"Don't mention it. No, you must let me carry the baby to the platform;
I insist upon it."

She began to object, but he had already picked up the infant. Driving the children before her, she fled down
the aisle of the car.

Averill was about to follow, when a choking sound came from under the veil around the infant's head. Hastily he tore off the covering, and the countenance of a tiny negro baby was exposed to view.

Somehow he got out of the car and found himself standing beside the young woman on the station platform.
"I've—I've—I must have taken the wrong one," he stammered.

"No you haven't. I told you when you began to help me, that you didn't understand about the children.
I'm taking a trip for my sister, who is a matron in the home for dependent children. These little ones are waifs and strays whom I am taking to good homes in the country. Give me the little one; quick, the train is moving."

"But, Miss—Miss—"

"Get on board at once, sir. Perhaps we shall meet again. I am going back on the morning train—and—
and—"

"So am I," cried Averill, as he sprang on the car. "Good-by until tomorrow."

EVELYN THAW'S STORY

SHE GIVES IT TO THE WORLD ON EVE OF HUSBAND'S SECOND TRIAL.

HAS BEEN FURNISHING A NEW HOME

Has Consulted Her Husband in Regard to the Appointments—Feels Confident of His Acquittal in Near Future.

Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw writes as follows for the Sunday New York World and St. Louis Post-Dispatch:

There is a reason for everything, and if I am well today it is because I am living my life according to system. If there is any one reason for the improvement in my health and spirits it can be laid at the door of my home and the system and interest I have in it.

When the last trial ended I was ill and exhausted. I needed a tonic and found it in my new home. For months I had been imprisoned in a hotel, as much as a prisoner as Harry was downtown. I did not dare go out. I was recognized wherever I went. I caused a panic in a store where I was doing some shopping. I had to flee.

I tired of the routine. I had no appetite for the hotel food. Day after day I had been having the same things to eat so I decided to get a home of my own, where I could live surrounded by the things I like and want.

It was my first attempt at house-keeping. I had lived in hotels all over the world, but the only home I had ever known was the one we had to give up in Pittsburgh.

I furnished my home in Park avenue from cellar to garret with one idea in view—that of making it a place for Harry to look forward to. Every day when I visited him I talked with him about the furnishings. It gave him something to think of, and he made many valuable suggestions.

It is a small house, just big enough for two. The decorations are in sky blue, my favorite color. There are two rooms on each floor. On the first floor there is a reception room and a dining room. The living room is finished in old gold and the furniture in rich mahogany.

There are a library and music room on the second floor. The furniture of the library is of antique design. The central table is of a magnificent pattern with wonderful carvings. I also have some beautiful Chinese and Japanese curios there.

But my own room is the greatest of all. Some of my friends call it "the swamp," because of the startling effect the wall paper gives. The paper is of Japanese pattern done in blue. Wild ducks are shown sailing over huge cat-tails. Harry's room is on the same floor, and is all ready for him.

I am a great believer in outdoor exercise. All my life I have been out of doors as much as possible. During the last trial I used to go to Central park occasionally in the late afternoon and take a walk around the reservoir. It was the best tonic I could get in those days, but I couldn't do it as often as I should have liked. During this last spring and summer

I visited the park nearly every day. I went to the lake and rowed. In a very short time I became strong and my appetite improved. But my new home attended to my appetite. I had a splendid cook and now I can have the things I want. It was different when I lived in a hotel. It got so that the very sight of the menu card made me almost ill. I knew it backward, as the saying goes.

I like to get out in all sorts of weather. I remember when I was at school at Pompton Lake the great times I had in the snow. I had a sweater, bloomers, leggings and boots and I would go plunging through the snow until I was exhausted. Once I plunged through the ice and was nearly drowned. And, incidentally, outdoor exercise will do more for a woman's looks than anything else on earth, especially exercise in stormy weather. One reason why the English women enjoy such splendid complexions is that they exercise in the fog.

Cold plunges have become a hobby with me. They have done wonders for me. I cannot get water that is cold enough. During the hot months I put ice in the water. There is nothing so invigorating as a cold plunge.

My system of life is very simple now. I rise at 8 and after breakfast read my mail. My mail involves a great deal of work. I receive letters from all over the world. Of course, it is impossible for me to answer all of them.

The morning I devote to business. I go downtown to visit Harry and see the lawyers. Sometimes I am occupied with them all day. When I have finished with the business of the case I set my mind on other things. I have become quite a student of literature and my library is very extensive.

My health is almost perfect now, and it is due chiefly to the fact that my home has given me a new interest in life.

Thaw Case in a Nutshell

April 5, 1905—Harry Kendall Thaw and Florence Fitzgerald married.
June 25, 1906—Thaw shot and killed Stanford White, wealthy architect, whom he accused of having had improper relations with his wife before marriage, at Madison Square roof garden.

June 28—Thaw indicted for murder in first degree, and pleaded not guilty. January 23, 1907—First trial of Thaw began, Justice Fitzgerald presiding.

February 1—Twelfth juror selected and final preparations made for trial by District Attorney Jerome, prosecutor, and Delphin M. Delmas, chief counsel for the defense.

February 5—Dr. Charles C. Wiley, Pittsburg, testified that at the time of the shooting Thaw was insane, but admitted that he was not an expert alienist.

February 6—Benjamin Boman, electrician at Madison Square garden, testified that White had threatened to kill Thaw.

February 7—Evelyn Thaw called to stand and bared sensational history of her life, telling her story as she had told it to Thaw in Paris in 1902, when she said she refused to marry him. She told how White had drugged and harmed her in 1901, when she was in her fifteenth year.

February 12—Dr. Britton D. Evans, alienist, declared Thaw was suffering from "brainstorm" at the time of shooting White.

February 19—Evelyn Thaw, again on stand, testified White told Mary McKenzie, Evelyn's friend, that he would win the young wife from Thaw.

February 20—Evelyn Thaw submitted to cross examination by Jerome, declare that White had told her all women were immoral and that she was convinced of contrary by Thaw.

March 6—Mrs. William Thaw, mother of Thaw, testified as to change in son after return from Europe in 1901.

March 7—Delmas suddenly rested case of defense.

March 14—In reply to 15,000 word hypothetical question, Dr. Austin Flint, insanity expert, swore that Thaw was sane.

March 20—Jerome halted trial, moving for appointment of lunacy commission.

March 26—Justice Fitzgerald appointed commission to examine into Thaw's sanity, which, on April 4, declared Thaw sane.

April 8—Delmas summed up case for defense, appealing to "unwritten law" and urging "dementia Americana."

April 10—Jerome summed up case for state, and judge charged jury.
April 12—Jury reported disagreement after being out forty-seven hours.

December 2—Case set for trial by Justice Dowling, January 6, 1908.

May Bar Story of Evelyn.

New York, Jan. 6.—Now comes the report that District Attorney Jerome may attempt this time to bar the testimony of Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, wife of the accused man.

At the first trial this testimony was allowed to go before the jury with the consent of the district attorney, who said the precedent set in the case of the state against Wood seemed to cover the matter.

Several criminal lawyers of prominence in their profession have argued the point with Mr. Jerome since the close of the first hearing, and have urged him to oppose this line of testimony at the trial about to begin. These attorneys declare a vital principle of law is involved and that it should go to the highest courts for determination.

Mr. Jerome has given no definite answer to his fellow-members of the bar and he may feel impelled to consent to another recital of Mrs. Thaw's story to prevent an appearance of inconsistency with his course a year ago.

POWERS MUST STAY IN JAIL

The Next Trial of the Kentuckian Set for July 6.

Georgetown, Ky., Jan. 6.—Judge Morris overruled Saturday afternoon the application of Caleb Powers for a release on bail pending the next trial of the accused man. The date of the next trial was fixed as July 6.

The jury which was discharged Saturday stood ten for acquittal and two for conviction. J. L. Price, the foreman, and J. W. Renaker, the Harrison county juror, held out for conviction. There came near being an acquittal Saturday. Mr. Renaker made the proposition to Mr. Price to vote for acquittal. Price held out, although a sick man, and Renaker said he would vote with him.

The ten jurors who voted for Powers' acquittal, have petitioned Governor Willson to pardon Jim Howard, now serving a life sentence for the murder of Goebel, as they are now confident he was in no wise implicated in the killing.

COUNTED HEART BEATS

AS A PROOFREADER PASSED TO UNKNOWN BEYOND ON THE SABBATH.

MAN'S DEATH CAME AS SURPRISE

Doctor Literally Heard Publisher of First Joplin Newspaper Expire in Chicago on the Lord's Day.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—Lewis Cass Robinson, for fifteen years a proofreader on the Chicago Tribune, died Saturday, while a physician held a stethoscope to his heart, counting its pulsations. The physician literally heard him die.

Death seems all the more peculiar by reason of the fact that Mr. Robinson did not consider himself ill. He believed his heart was strong, and had said he never suffered a severe headache or pain in his life.

He was at work as usual Sunday morning, and continued on till 11 o'clock, when he remarked to those near by that he felt strange pains around his chest and in his arms. They grew worse and at noon he was induced to visit the office of Dr. Frank J. Stewart in the Chaplain building.

The physician listened through the stethoscope and noted the flighty condition of his heart. It first beat rapidly, then slowly and was at times normal.

He was continuing the examination with a view to ascertaining the kind of treatment to be applied, when the pulsation stopped and Mr. Robinson fell over dead.

The physician was discussing with Mr. Robinson the peculiar action of his heart, but the latter did not seem particularly worried, and was in the midst of a sentence replying to the physician when both his heart and tongue stopped.

Mr. Robinson owned and edited the first newspaper published in Joplin, Mo., and was foe-man of the composing room of the old Carthage Globe when it went out of business. He was 52 years of age.

The night came on, the good smiled.

To herself as she softly said, "Thank God, we're happy, bright, and bright."

We all take Rocky Mountain night."

Married Women

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of child-birth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment, will be sent free.

REWARD OF RUSSIAN JUDAS.

Got Big Sum for Betraying a Plot Against the Czar.

A wedding took place the other day at Peterhof, the summer home of the czar, says the London Daily News. The bridegroom was a Cossack of the imperial bodyguard, Ratimoff, the man who egged on a group of persons in sympathy with the ideas of the revolutionists to discuss their plans in order that he might betray them. Their trial was a farce and their condemnation for plotting against the czar one of the most disgraceful episodes in recent Russian history. The authorities do not take this view, and Ratimoff's devotion has been rewarded by a wedding present of 25,000 rubles and suitable provision has been made for him by way of a pension for life.

"And Judas got only 25 guelders!" cried a Russian lady to whom I told the story.

CONGRESS MEETS AGAIN

READY FOR LONG GRIND, AFTER THE USUAL HOLIDAY VACATION.

THE FINANCIAL PANIC HAS PASSED

Presidential Boom of "Uncle Joe" Cannon is One of the Chief Topics at Capital Now—New Railway Legislation.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Gaining new strength from its holiday of rest for the strenuous work of averting and postponing desired legislation, congress resumed its session today. Nearly all of the senators and representatives who spent the Christmas period in the bosoms of their families have returned to Washington, prepared for the long grind ahead of them.

The road ahead of the Solons is not now so rocky as when they adjourned, with a great sigh of relief, for the holidays. The worst of the financial panic is now apparently past and the demand for financial legislation and currency tinkering is not so strong as it was weeks ago. The republican members look with dread upon the passing of any exceedingly important measures in the face of a presidential election, and the acrimonious comments of their democratic colleagues upon the "do-nothing" policy was as gall and wormwood to the republican palate. Now that prosperity has returned, in a measure, the Solons of both parties are looking forward to an interesting and wordy period of debates. The orators on both sides have spent their holidays in priming with verbal fireworks, which will soon be let loose, to the end that the great American voter may be educated as to the best means of disposing of his suffrage in the coming election.

Of chief interest as a topic of conversation among the returned legislators, particularly those of the lower house, is the presidential boom of "Uncle Joe" Cannon. Friends of the speaker in the house of representatives—and he has many supporters in the body over which he presides—have been quietly working for the last few days on plans that will bring Cannon forward as the biggest gun among the republican aspirants for Roosevelt's place. It is likely that these plans will culminate shortly in a definite launching of the Cannon boom. Many central and western states are already looked upon as being in the Cannon column. Illinois and other northern states have given evidence of considerable Cannon sentiment.

Among the important legislative matters now prominently before congress, that of a reorganization of the navy department is attracting the most attention. Recent strictures on the conduct of the navy, coupled with the resignation of Rear Admiral Brownson because of internal dissensions, has made the matter of a readjustment of naval affairs a pressing one.

Congress will also have a hard time to dodge the question of additional railroad legislation. Many important organizations of the commercial interests of the country, including the Trans-Mississippi congress and the National Live Stock association, have demanded legislation on the subject of furnishing cars to shippers and on other matters. It is unlikely that any such bills will be passed, as the congressmen do not consider this the proper time.

What's in a name? "Pride of Perry" under any other would be the same.

HOMEMADE SMOKE HOUSE.

Can Be Constructed Out of a Couple of Empty Barrels.

When one has only a few pieces of meat to smoke, a smokehouse may be improvised by taking two empty barrels and arranging them as illustrated. In the lower barrel set a kettle of smoldering chips or corn cobs. An opening is cut in one side of the lower barrel to allow the attendant to add fresh fuel when necessary. The upper barrel has either hooks in its bottom or sides, the bottom of the barrel being now uppermost, or rods passing through the sides on which to hang the meat.

THOUGHT TUG OF WAR NOW COMING

Belief Prevails That the Incorporation Was Merely a Bluff to Mislead Trade and Secure Additional Loans.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—A further hearing was taken up before Referee Wean Friday afternoon in the Emerson, Marlow & Co. case. H. A. Emerson, under fire of extended examination by Attorney Wilhartz, representing O. L. Uhus, a creditor, disclosed wonderful forcefulness about details of his firm's business about the time the incorporation was formed in March, 1906.

As forecasted some time ago, it is becoming plainly evident that a tug of war will develop over the old question of whether assets of the old partnership were ever transferred to the corporation.

Interested parties now incline to the opinion that the incorporation was merely a bluff to mislead the trade and secure additional loans to recoup losses sustained in speculative transactions.

A motion is likely to be entered to vacate the bankruptcy proceedings against the corporation and begin anew against the partnership. Some think criminal action on the basis of fraud may be the outcome. A further hearing takes place at 2 o'clock on Thursday, the 9th.

A MISSOURI EGG DID IT

HARTFORD, CONN., BAKER WILL JOURNEY TO JOPLIN TO WED GIRL.

HIS EXPENSES PAID FOR THE TRIP

Correspondence Following Finding of Miss Adcock's Name on an Egg—The Sequel to a Very Pretty Romance.

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 6.—It took a Missouri cold storage Plymouth Rock egg to bring together Emil Lauritzen, the North School street baker of Manchester, and Miss Louise Adcock, daughter of a wealthy poultry fancier, who conducts an extensive hen farm at Joplin, Mo.

About a month ago, on opening a case of eggs Emil found on the top layer an unusually large specimen of hen fruit, on which he found written in ink, "Miss Louise Adcock, Joplin, Mo. Write."

He wrote, Miss Adcock and Emil exchanged photographs, and a week ago Saturday the fair western admirer sent car fare for Emil to come out to visit her, with the understanding that if he didn't care to stay and marry her, "why, father will pay the return expenses."

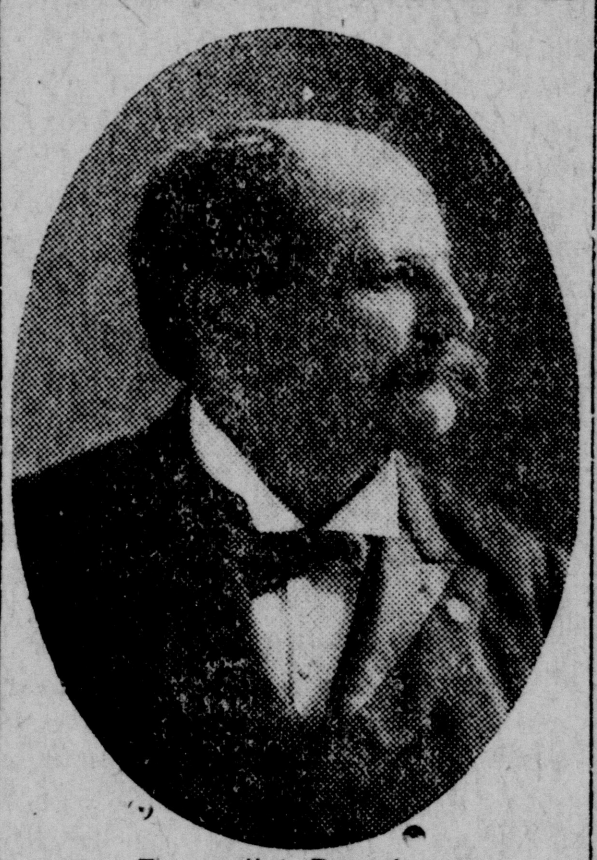

He will start for Joplin this week, and intends to bring his bride back to Connecticut, if she is willing.

It may prove interesting to note that Miss Adcock says she has another unmarried sister, whose photograph she has sent to Emil, so that he may exhibit it to Manchester possibilities.

Transportation of Fruit.

In these modern days the fate of the commercial fruit grower hangs on the kind of transportation he can secure. Many a man with a big fruit plantation has been ruined by the badness of the transportation facilities. When transportation facilities are poor, rates are often excessive, and between the two the fruit grower is unable to make a living profit on his operations. The transportation problem is therefore the one that should be most worked on by the fruit growers of the country. Some roads put on the transportation of fruit "all the traffic will bear" and this means often that all the profits go to the transportation companies.

A MONTE CARLO WINNER

MRS. LANGTRY GOT 35 FOR 1 AND IT TOOK NINE MINUTES TO PAY HER.

SHE BETS MAXIMUM AT ROULETTE

The "Jersey Lily's" Costumes and Her Jewels Are the Envy of All Women—Lives Like a Queen in More Ways Than One.

Monte Carlo, Jan. 4.—Lady Hugo de Bathe, better known in America as Mrs. Langtry, won fortune at the Casino here every afternoon and evening. She had had very bad luck at the trente et quarante table, and arose in disgust, exclaiming: "I shall play no more for the present."

As, on her way out, Lady de Bathe was passing the roulette tables she had an inspiration—or what you will; perhaps an instant's glimpse into the immediate future. Whatever it was, she staked the maximum on No. 32 on two tables simultaneously. Marvelous to relate, 32 won on both tables. It took the croupiers, paying 35 for 1 of her stakes, nine minutes to count out her winnings.

The coup caused intense excitement, especially as Lady de Bathe resolutely walked out with her winnings. A number of her acquaintances surrounded her and were congratulating her, when a friend, rushing up from the tables, shouted to her: "Thirty-two won the second time on one table!"

Unlike the seasoned gambler, she had not bet again on the number which brought her such big winnings.

The once "Jersey Lily" lives like a queen here, and like a queen who lacks no money to indulge every whim. She has a magnificent suite in the most expensive hotel; Her splendid motor car is fitted in tortoise shell and gold, and her personal suite consists of a woman secretary, two maids, two chauffeurs and a courier.

Every one declares she has found the secret of youth. Only her voice, grown thinner and harder, recalls the fact that a long time has passed since she aroused the proudest admiration of the then gallant Prince of Wales.

People are predicting a bad season for Monte Carlo, chiefly because, compared with other seasons, few Americans are expected here. The stock of the Casino has been fluctuating strangely this year, although last year's dividends of $70 a share was the largest ever paid. The dividend was only $44 in 1900. The shares of the nominal value of $100 were quoted at $1,440 last year. Later they fell to $800, but have risen to $1,000.

This decline in value is attributed directly to the diminishing amount of American money laid at the gaming tables.

Montgomery City, Mo., Jan. 6.—Parents of this city are advocating a reform among the younger society people, which, it is thought, will be adopted and become the style during the year.

SAD WITH MABELLE NOW

COREY MEETS HIS FIRST WIFE AT THE HOME OF HIS AGED FATHER.

A RECONCILIATION WAS EFFECTED

Meeting Lasted Two Hours, and Relations Jubilant Over the Reunion—Their First Talk Since Year 1905.

Braddock, Pa., Jan. 6.—The expected reconciliation between William Ellis Corey and his first wife was effected Saturday afternoon, and, according to gossip, it means that Corey and his new wife are to be separated.

James B. Corey, the 77-year-old coal operator, local preacher, millionaire cousin of Corey and active man of affairs of this city, laughed when he heard of the reported reconciliation.

"What did I say to you nearly a year ago," he said. "That Ellis would soon get tired of the play actress woman. I gave him a year, only a year. I knew how it would be. And he has come to see the error of his way and decided to make up with his former wife. What I said about Ellis and his chorus girl wife has come to pass, if what I hear of their unhappiness from New York is so. I evidently was right then, and what I said was prophetic."

Ellis Corey and his first wife met here Saturday for the first time since their separation in August, 1905. The steel trust president arrived here at noon, coming from New York. None of the officials of the Carnegie company or other subsidiary companies knew of his mission. But he came to Braddock, preceded by his son, Allan, the boy who refused absolutely to leave his mother after the marital separation.

Ellis Corey came to the home of his father, Alfred A. Corey, tax collector of North Braddock. A half hour later there stepped from a street car at the rear of the old Corey home, Mrs. Laura Cook Corey. With her was Mrs. Lillie Corey Bainbridge, second sister of Ellis Corey, of Mingo Junction, O. The two women hurried in the rear way.

The conference lasted over two hours. Alfred Corey refused after the family session to say a word as to the outcome, except that Ellis had always desired to be on friendly terms with his son, Allan, who is attending Yale.

Mrs. Laura Corey has been near Chester, Pa., with her mother-in-law since early last summer, when all went to take charge of the President James Buchanan homestead, which Ellis Corey gave to his mother.

What Ellis Corey desired he accomplished on his visit here, it was stated by a near relative of the family Saturday night. None of them would say what this was. Friends of Corey say the rupture between Mabel Gilman and Corey is serious, and that he pines for his son, Allan, now that it is impossible to get back his boyhood happiness with the girl bride of his youth.

Former Partners Snub Corey.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 6.—Six of the old partners of William E. Corey, in the days before the Carnegie Steel Co. was absorbed by the United States Steel corporation, snubbed Mr. Corey Saturday night by refusing to attend the annual dinner of the officers of the Carnegie company at the Duquesne club, at which Mr. Corey was the principal figure.

All the absentees, have formerly been prominent in the annual dinners. For some of them Saturday night's dinner was the first they had missed since affairs began taking on the added significance of an annual reunion. All of them reached a virtual understanding some time ago to remain away from the gathering—Mr. Corey's first annual dinner since his marriage.

The men who thus refused to meet Mr. Corey socially on the occasion are: C. M. Schwab, whose wife has never forgiven Corey for his marriage; James Gayley, William H. Dickson, Thomas Morrison, D. M. Clemson, Col. L. T. Brown and A. R. Peacock.

TO BE NO BASEBALL WAR

PRESIDENT SHIVELY SAYS IT IS ALL BOSH TO TALK OF TROUBLE.

IS WESTERN ASSOCIATION LEADER

Favors Present Plan of Organization and Has No Idea of Trying to Invade St. Louis With Third Team.

Dr. D. M. Shively, president of the Western Association and one of the leaders in minor league baseball, paid St. Louis a visit on his way to Cincinnati yesterday, and the visit of the former corner of Wyandotte county was preceded by a bunch of rumors which heralded him as leader of the battle against organized baseball. Instead the doctor showed up as a messenger of peace, and the only object of his stop off in the city was to meet former friends of his and avoid a continuous trip from Kansas City to his destination. As a result, the doctor had a very pleasant day in St. Louis and departed for Cincinnati last night to attend a meeting of the national baseball commission, in order to be on hand for the preliminary caucus today.

Of most importance during Dr. Shively's stay in St. Louis was the announcement that, in his opinion, there would be no baseball war, and this comes pretty near being an announcement from an authoritative source, so far as the minor leagues outside of the American association are concerned. In discussing the subject yesterday, Dr. Shively said:

"One thing that surprised me this morning on reaching St. Louis was the information that I was interested in a war against organized baseball. Nothing further can be imagined from my intentions. I have always been an advocate of organized baseball, as it stands at present, and am well satisfied with the progress the national sport has made during the last few years. Under the present conditions the Western association has grown to a state where it is not only self-supporting, but is making money, and it would be foolish to change this state of affairs. So far as a class C league, like the one of which I am president, invading St. Louis is concerned, it is nonsense, and I have never for a moment entertained the idea.

"There is but one thing I will ask at Cincinnati, and that is that the drafting season be shortened. At present the drafting season is so arranged as to give each league something like a month from which to select players from the leagues below it in class, and this extends the drafting until along past the first of the year. As a result the smaller leagues are unable to begin making up their teams until the season is so far advanced that they are seriously handicapped. As a matter of fact, drafts for the best players in every league are sent in so as to arrive on the date that the drafting season opens, and men selected after that are picked up to fill in. It is true that but few players are drafted, but the uncertainty keeps the minor league clubs guessing. I will ask that the draft season be shortened to say ten days. This will give the clubs which make drafts a chance to make a second choice in case they miss out on the first, but will get the drafting season over in time for the minor leagues to secure players the following season.

"From what I know, the American association will not receive support from the other minor leagues in case of an attempt to bring about a war. Furthermore, I do not think the American association, outside of two or three of the owners, is looking for trouble. There has never been a more prosperous season in the history of baseball than the past one and few owners care to try the experiment of overturning present conditions. Past seasons, when not one but several of the minor league clubs were in the habit of winding up the season about July 4 without being able to pay their debts, are a lesson not easily forgot. Not a league in organized baseball last season failed and but few did not make money. That is enough for an argument in favor of organized baseball."

Dr. Shively is one of the men who lead in the National association of minor leagues, and who is in close touch with other owners and managers. Therefore, his opinion may be taken as meaning that the present

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

agreement between the minor and major leagues will continue. The doctor first came into baseball as sporting editor of a Kansas City paper, and while in that position helped to organize the Missouri Valley League, and was elected president of this. The Missouri Valley League subsequently altered its circuit and became the Western association. Ever since Shively took charge the league has proved a success. As a tribute to his success in this league is the fact that Shively will be offered the presidency in the Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas League at the next election of this latter organization, in addition to the office he now holds as leader of the Western association.

Shively Wanted as Leader.

Tulsa, Ok., Jan. 6.—The annual meeting of the directors of the O. A. K. League will be held in Coffeyville on January 16, on call of President McDaniel. At this meeting the resignation of President McDaniel will be received and his successor chosen.

As his successor, President "Doc" Shively, of the Western association, and James Woodford, of this city, are prominently mentioned. The association will consider the application of new towns for membership, and the meeting will result in a reorganization of the league. Enid, Venita, Shawnee are among the new towns spoken of for membership.

If Tulsa does not land a berth in the Western association it will continue in the O. A. K. League.

ARGUE THE ELKINS ACT

RAILROADS VERY ANXIOUS TO HAVE THE MEASURE DECLARED VOID.

WOULD INVALIDATE INDICTMENTS

The United States Supreme Court Today Heard Argument by Lawyers in the Northern Security Case.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The United States supreme court today heard argument by counsel for the Great Northern Railroad Co. in support of the contention that the penalty clause of the Elkins act was repealed by the Hepburn act on the date of the passage of the latter, June 29, 1906. The Great Northern rebate cases have been fought bitterly through the lower courts, not because of the amount involved, but because of the hope that the Elkins act may be declared void by the highest tribunal of the land. If the contention of the railroad's attorneys should be upheld by the court, the decision would render ineffective all indictments for rebating returned since June 29, 1906, to August 29, 1906, when the Hepburn act went into effect. This would invalidate the Standard Oil's big fine.

The Great Northern was fined $15,000, to August 29, 1906, when the indictment having been brought during the two months when it is alleged there was no law in force providing a penalty for the offense. An appeal was taken by the Great Northern to the circuit court of appeals from the decision of the lower federal court, but the decision of the lower court was affirmed.

If the contention of the Great Northern is sustained by the supreme court, all the indictments against the Standard Oil, including those under which Judge Landis imposed the fine of $29,240,000, will fall. These indictments were returned between June 29 and August 29, 1906, the indictments in the suit before Judge Landis having been returned August 28, 1906.

The suspension for two months of the operation of the Hepburn rate law was due to the desire of the government to secure indictments under the Elkins act, as the evidence that had been secured covered that period. The Hepburn act could not be retroactive, and unless such indictments were secured under the Elkins act, all offenders indicted in the period named will go unpunished.

The case is recognized by the government law officials as one of the most important of its kind ever argued before the supreme court, and Attorney General Bonaparte, his chief assistant, Milton F. Purdy, and other officials of the department of justice have been preparing for weeks to fight the contention of the Great Northern attorneys.

Another important case now before the supreme court is the application of the state of Nebraska for a writ of mandamus, preventing the federal court judges of the district of Nebraska from interfering with the enforcement of the state rate laws. The supreme court is asked to remand to the state courts proceedings instituted by the railroad commissioners and the attorney general of Nebraska against the Burlington, Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific and Rock Island railways to compel them to put into effect the 2-cent rate prescribed by law.

Cairo, Ill., Jan. 6.—Sixty-two saloon keepers voluntarily closed their places of business here Sunday, and for the first time in the history of the town every saloon was closed tight.

An agreement was signed by every liquor dealer in Cairo. They pledged themselves to close on Sunday, to obey the laws against selling to minors and habitual drunkards, and declared against wine rooms. They also issued a formal call upon the mayor and the police to enforce all laws.

ALL OF NATIONAL REPUTE.

Famous Statesmen and Soldiers in Crittenden Family.

The destruction of the "Crittenden peace tree" in the Botanic gardens, of which the venerable superintendent, Mr. Smith, is so fond, recalls one of the most historic names in our political history, all soldiers, and statesmen of national repute, says the Washington Herald.

George B. Crittenden, soldier, born in Russellville, Ky., was a West Pointer in the Mexican war, resigned the United States army in 1861, and joined the fortunes of the confederacy. John J. Crittenden, statesman, a direct descendant of Thomas Jefferson, was of the same Kentucky family. For this famous statesman the tree is named, when he was in the senate. He favored the election of Bell and Everett in 1860. He was opposed to secession, and was for peace.

Robert Crittenden, of the same family in Kentucky, a son of John J. Crittenden, became acting governor of Arkansas; afterward fought a duel in which he killed his opponent, Mr. Conway, in 1827.

Thomas L. Crittenden, another son of John J. Crittenden, was a famous officer in the union army, while his brother was in the confederate army. Gen. Thomas L. Crittenden, U. S. A., was promoted for gallantry at the battle of Shiloh. His son, J. J. Crittenden, was at West Point, 1872 to 1876, and, as lieutenant, accompanied Gen. Custer and shared the same fate in the Sioux fight on Little Big Horn.

Thomas Theodore Crittenden, a grandson of the famous Kentucky statesman, became a colonel in the union army, afterward governor of Missouri, elected by the largest Democratic majority ever cast in that state (1881). He was instrumental in the pursuit and capture of the notorious James gang. He was appointed by President Cleveland consul general at Mexico, 1893.

KIDNAPED GIRL IS FOUND

is Ella Kates, Whose Father Once Lived in Kansas City.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—The Chicago police received word from Dubuque, Ia., last night that Ella Kates, 17 years old, who was kidnaped from her home in Kansas City, Kan., several years ago, has been found in a convent there.

The discovery followed statements made by William Birmingham, and his wife, who are awaiting trial here on a charge of stealing Lillian Wulff, 8 years old, from her home a few weeks since.

According to the local police, Ella Kates is the daughter of Richard Kates, a former merchant of Kansas City, Kan. She was taken to the convent of the good Shepherd several years ago, after she had been found in the streets of Dubuque, where she had been abandoned by the Birmingham.

At that time she gave the name of Patterson, but has recently admitted her identity to Sister M. de Lourdes, mother superior of the convent. The girl's father is thought to be still a resident of Kansas City, Kan.

Richard Kates, the father, was living in Kansas City at the time his daughter was kidnaped there years ago. He later moved to Amourdale. He left there a year ago and his present whereabouts are unknown to the police who remember the kidnaping.

Amusements

SEDALIA THEATER.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Generations of play goers have enjoyed "Uncle Tom's Cabin," the play that moved the world and made history. But it remained for Manager Kibbe, of the great Stetson company, to place the old-time play in a modern setting. While the text of Harriet Beecher Stowe's masterpiece is preserved in its entirety in the Stetson production, there are other features introduced that make the entertainment a novelty to those who have laughed with Topsy and wept with Eva years ago. In the Stetson company there are two Topsy's and two Marks, which gives a great field for the introduction of fun. This mammoth organization will appear at the Sedalia Friday matinee and night.

The South's Best Play.

"The Clansman," whose welcome return is announced at the Sedalia theater on Saturday, matinee and night, is described as the greatest and most daringly original drama ever put forth by a southern writer. It is unconventional both in character and treatment, and it grips an audience with tremendous power. For the first time the real negro is satisfactorily portrayed. Not merely one type is shown, but several, including the educated mulatto, the faithful antebellum servant, the shiftless but likable old darkey who has to be scared into good behavior by the Ku Klux, and finally the low vicious wretch. There is at least equal skill exhibited in the depiction of the whites. The characters of Ben Cameron and his father, representative of the old southern chivalry; Austin Stoneman, the implacable and embittered southern hater; Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest, the dashing cavalry leader and founder of the Ku Klux Klan, and Nellie Graham, a tender bud of the south who hesitates not to join the fearful Klan to save the man she loves, form a striking portrait gallery of the leading figures of reconstruction days.

The Lyman Twins Winning New Laurels.

The popular young comedians, the Lyman Twins, will bring the largest musical attraction they have ever been seen in here next Sunday matinee and night, called "The Yankee Drummers," which is just as breezy as its name implies and which is not only the longest but the best musical success these twin stars have ever attempted.

At the Unique.

The bill is equal to that of last week and if anything a little better. Bill opens with an overture by Payne's Symphony orchestra and is followed by Musical Bentley, whose performance on the zylphone entitles him to a place in the front rank and his title, "The Monarch of the Zylphone." He plays the most difficult classical selections and his rendition of the Poet and Peasant deserves special comment. He finishes his act with a medley of popular and rag time selections which bring forth hearty applause.

Harry Valois has an up to date refined monologue and handles it in a manner which wins the approval of the audience.

Cole and Shale have some good songs and are expert dancers.

The illustrated song by Miss Wayne Clatts is well rendered and the six-act drama, The Two Orphans, which is produced by the Uniqueodrome, is one of the finest motion pictures ever seen here. It promises to be as well received as the subject Lost in the Alps, which was produced a few weeks ago. Several contestants for the amateur contest Friday night have already enrolled and the amateur nights promise to be a grand success.

HAD SLIPPED HER MEMORY.

Trivial Circumstance Forgotten by Sweet Summer Girl.

The man was taking an early morning stroll along the beach, when he met a charming young girl, also enjoying a stroll.

"I was just wishing I might meet you," he said, as he approached her with the air of one having at least a claim of friendship on her.

The girl lifted her eyebrows and regarded him with a surprised look in which there was not the slightest hint of recognition.

The man looked a little more than surprised. In fact he looked and was shocked.

"Of course you haven't forgotten," he said, in a dazed sort of way.

"Forgotten what?" she replied boldly.

"Why, last night—down by the big rock—moon rise—soft murmur of tide—don't you know?"

"I don't understand," she said, moving away.

"Why—er," he stammered, "we became engaged down there last night—fixed our wedding day—don't you remember now?"

A momentary blankness overspread the sweet girl's face, then the light of memory illumined it.

"Oh," she exclaimed pleasantly, "how stupid of me to forget. So we did!"
